- 2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)
  - 1. In this opinion reference is made to the following document:

D1: US 4 571 171 A (HAMMERSCHMIDT HORST E ET AL.)
18 February 1986 (1986-02-18)

- 2. INDEPENDENT CLAIM 1
- D1 discloses (the references in parentheses relate to said document: cf. figures 1, 2, 2a; column 3, line 41 to column 4, line 18) a multi-part male mould plate (6) for a mould for the injection moulding of mouldings, which male mould plate (6) comprises a base plate (42) and a stripper plate (44) with a slide (64, 58), attached to which slide (58, 64) are a plurality of separable male mould plate cores (56), at least one hydraulic drive (76, 69) being provided to completely open the male mould plate cores.

The subject matter of claim 1 differs therefrom in that the hydraulic drive is secured to the slide and is supported against the stripper plate.

Box No. V Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

The subject matter of claim 1 is therefore novel (PCT Article 33(2)).

It appears, however, that the novel feature is equivalent to the feature known from D1. Whether the drive is secured to the slide and is supported against the stripper plate (cf. claim 1) or whether the drive is secured to the stripper plate and is supported against the slide (cf. D1, column 4, lines 4-6) has no substantial effect on the operation of the male mould plate. The subject of claim 1 therefore relates merely to an interchange of equivalent features which does not involve an inventive step (PCT Article 33(3)).

- 3. Further observations
- (a) Contrary to the requirements of PCT

  Rule 5.1(a)(ii), neither the relevant prior art disclosed in document D1 nor this document has been indicated in the description.
- (b) Contrary to PCT Article 6, claim 1 is not supported by the description (cf. claim 1 and page 2, lines 2-3 and 23-24).
